VDH says presumptive positive test of coronavirus in Harrisonburg

HARRISONBURG, Va. – The City of Harrisonburg and all departments are closely monitoring the latest information and recommendations concerning the Coronavirus, or covid-19, following a presumptive positive test in our community confirmed by the Virginia Department of Health late this afternoon.

We are working closely with regional and national health experts in monitoring the situation, and have put all City protocols related to the prevention of the spread of communicable diseases into action. This includes reassessing some community events and activities. We are in daily contact with the Virginia Department of Health, which is providing guidance on this matter.

We encourage all residents to follow Virginia Department of Health and Centers for Disease Control guidelines regarding prevention, and to follow only trust sources for future updates and information on this matter. More information regarding the coronavirus and helpful links is available at the City's website.

The City of Harrisonburg is centrally located in the Shenandoah Valley of Virginia. It is home to approximately 54,000 people. More information about the City of Harrisonburg is available online at www.HarrisonburgVA.gov.
